WaterStart's Channels for Innovation (CHANNELS) web-based knowledge platform was developed to further its mission to accelerate the adoption of water technology.

This online portal allows water managers and large water consumers to participate in peer-to-peer knowledge sharing and provides CHANNELS subscribers with access to water innovation insights, detailed case studies on water pilot projects and a network of hundreds of innovative water technology companies.

About WaterStart

WaterStart leverages and coordinates the expertise and infrastructure of partner organizations to provide water innovation services and spur economic growth in the water sector. WaterStart works with member organizations to identify water-related priorities, and then recruits technology companies with novel solutions to test and demonstrate the viability of their product.

For more information contact: Josh Prigge, CHANNELS Manager. josh.prigge@waterstart.com

www.waterstart.com